

Bustle & Sew

Love to Sew and Sew with Love .....

Humphrey the Bonzo Hound

Humphrey is delightfully retro, the original pattern having been adapted from one published in 1972 (when I was VERY young!)

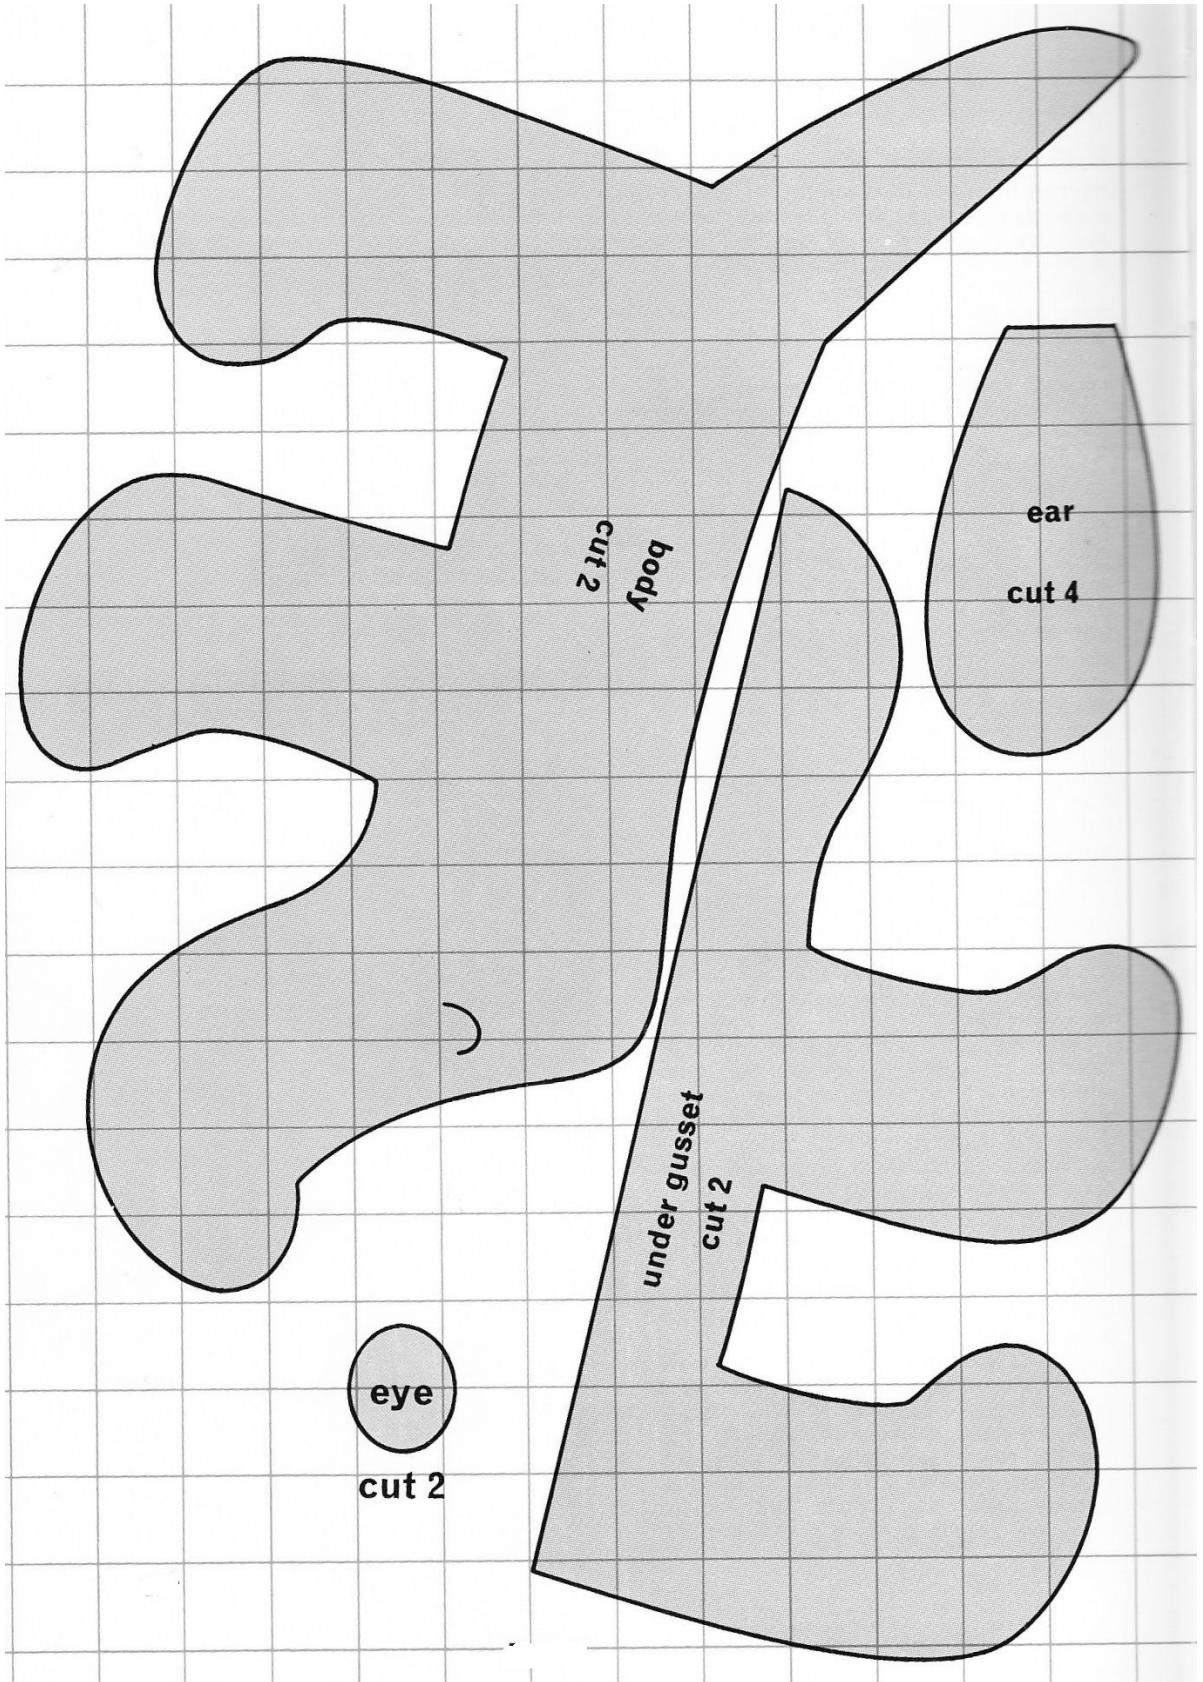

Here he's made in blanket scraps with felt ears, but he would look great made in almost any combination of fabrics.

You'll need sufficient fabric to cut out the pieces shown on the template (at whatever size you decide to make) plus stuffing and cotton embroidery floss. I sewed my Humphrey by machine, but you could hand sew if you prefer.

The patterns allow for 0.25" seam allowance, and be sure to clip curves to make for a smooth finish when turning right side out. When stuffing use small pieces of stuffing and work his limbs into place as you go. If the stuffing goes lumpy, pull it out, re-fluff and start again!

The pattern above is the original pattern – I didn't cut an eye from felt, but used French knots. Also I only cut two ear pieces from felt and attached to either side of his head with blanket stitch. This version of Humphrey is my copyright and must not be copied for resale, though please feel free to share him with your friends.

Nose and eyes detail

Cross stitch detail on under-gusset (where I turned and stuffed Humphrey).
